PRINCE OF WALES ENDS HIS VISIT IN NATION'S CAPITAL

Leaves Washington for 3 Days Stay in South- ern Resort.

GOVERNMENT STARTS QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Prince of Wales left Washington tonight, accompanied by his personal staff, for a three day stay in a southern winter resort, where he proposes to remain incognito. His next public appearance will be Tuesday, when he arrives in New York to remain there until he calls for England, the following Saturday.

The prince called today on Mrs. Marshall, wife of Vice President Marshall, who has been slightly indisposed. He also paid a visit to Cardinal Gibbons. He was received by the cardinal in the rectory of St. Patrick's church and chatted with him for ten minutes. Afterward he drove to the Belmont home where he dined privately.

At the door of the rectory the prince was greeted by James Burns, a veteran of the Boer war, and a former trooper in the tenth royal Hussars, the "Prince's Own." Burns told the prince that he had formed one of the guard of honor at the wedding of his father and mother. The prince discarded his military uniform in honor of his visit to Annapolis and wore the costume of captain in the royal navy.

When he entered the memorial hall where the 2,000 midshipmen were assembled, "Mike" Curley, the school's cheer leader, jumped to the platform and called for "Four navies and three princes."

The big building shook at the roar that followed.

After a brief address to the midshipmen in which he paid tribute to the accomplishments of the American navy in the war, the prince planted a tree in front of Bancroft hall.

WIDOW OF LATE COUNT TOLSTOI DEAD

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Countess Leo Tolstoy, widow of the famous Russian novelist died at Yasnaya, Poliana, November 4, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Helsingfors, quoting the Krasnaya Gazette.

Countess Tolstoy, before her marriage was Sophie Behrs, daughter of a fashionable Moscow physician. She was married to Count Tolstoy in 1862. The couple had sixteen children.

Count Tolstoy's vagaries in his later life which led him to flee from his family in search of a simple mode of living, were said to have been a great strain upon his wife.

When the novelist became critically ill just prior to his death in November, 1910, he was lying in a poorly ventilated room at a small village 80 miles from his estate at Yasnaya Poliana, attended by his daughter. As Count Tolstoy had expressed the wish that no one seek him out, Countess Tolstoy sent an urgent appeal that she be permitted to join him in his self-imposed exile and hardships.

The countess later received a touching letter from the count and proceeded to the village but was admitted to the sick room only the night before he died.

FLOW OF RADICALS TO U. S. COME BY WAY OF MEXICO

Much of Red Propaganda Traced to Southern Republic

GOVERNMENT STARTS QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Disclosures of large orders for arms and ammunition placed by Mexico in Europe were followed today by revelations tending to show that the "reds underground" line from soviet Russia to the United States, runs by the way of Mexico.

It became known that immigration service and the department of justice both are concerned at the influx of Russian radicals and other aliens of red tendencies over the Mexican border. Furthermore government agents have traced much red propaganda over the Mexican line.

A letter written October 3rd, by Ramon P. de Negri, Mexican consul general in New York to Flavia Boner, a Mexican senator, endorsing the principle of "nationalization" has come into the hands of the government and already has been called to the attention of the state department by at least two senators.

In the opinion of officials here the publication of deNegri's letter may lead to an embarrassing situation.

Government investigators have reported that radicals seemed to have been first attracted to Mexico by certain so-called "ultra-modern" provisions of the new constitution. Negri in his letter writes that "only Russia by nationalizing lands has gone further than we have."

De Negri's letter, says in his principal parts:

"It would not only be SAD but even criminal that we should abdicate our nationalization policy thru the threats of Wall street capitalists. I believe this is an ideal time in which to assure Mexican petroleum once for all since it means nothing less than our greatest wealth so coveted by foreign interests. You are probably familiar with the statements made by George Creel to our good friend Manuel Carpio on President Wilson's views with regard to the nationalization of petroleum in Mexico.

"Steps are at present being taken in the United States by the working classes, radical Socialists, honest intellectuals, etc., with a view not only to nationalizing natural resources but to socializing industries in general. For your satisfaction and that of the members of the constitutional assembly, I must say that you set the example, I can testify to this for I have been on the scene of action since 1914.

"In 1917 I was in Washington in charge of our embassy when you took the transcendental step of Nationalization. From that moment I made up my mind to engage in propaganda favorable to us by having our examination printed in English. I have talked with prominent sociologists of the United States, England and Russia and they have all informed me that our constitution is read with enthusiasm in those countries, especially those portions dealing with labor, only Russia by nationalizing lands has gone further than we have. This is what we lack to assure our economic independence the basis of the sovereignty of all peoples. You will also have seen in the press that England has nationalized its coal mines and that similar steps are being taken in France. The social movement in the United States is of such importance at the present that from one moment to another there may be a change in the general order of things. There is a dislocation between capital and labor. The conciliation conferences which industrialists and workingmen have failed. Throughout the United States there is a clamor for the socialization of industries. It would be sad if we, who initiated the movement should abandon it thru a weakening of principles or thru unfounded fears.

"I am following closely the movement in this country on petroleum. They have two tendencies: either to nationalize petroleum or to have petroleum pass into the hands of the government so that it may develop it, with the privilege of leasing the lands, but never to aliens, thru the fear that England may corner the whole petroleum of the world."

Government agents also have gathered evidence showing distribution of red propaganda in the United States thru Mexican sources.

LEADER DECLARES MINERS INSISTENT ON THEIR DEMANDS

Men Await New Agreement Before Returning to Work.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 14.—Any agreement formulated at the Washington wage conference between operators and miners' representatives must meet the mine workers' demands for sixty per cent in wages and a thirty hour week or be referred to a special miners' convention for approval or rejection, John Watt, secretary of the Springfield sub-district, United Mine Workers of America, declared here tonight.

Watt who with Freeman Thompson, president of the Springfield sub-district was a leader of an insurgency movement among Illinois miners last summer, expressed the belief that coal diggers in the twelfth district would not take kindly to the statement of Secretary Wilson that miners' demands were impossible.

"Unless the miners get their full demands as formulated at the Cleveland convention Watt declared, 'the new agreement will have to go to a special convention at Indianapolis which would require two weeks to assemble.'"

In the absence of state miners' official leaders were of opinion that the miners' scale committee was empowered to negotiate a new wage agreement without limitation of authority.

Pending action of a special convention Watt said, the miners were remaining on strike because they take the position that the old contract has expired. He declined to discuss what the convention might do to a compromise suggestion which will be composed of workers' know what they wanted and were insistent on their rights.

Perfect order prevailed thruout the coal fields of the state today. Miners were living up to their announced determination to mine no coal until a new agreement should be signed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—A combined celebration of Thanksgiving day and Armistice day, both nationally and internationally, was suggested today in resolutions adopted by the American Farm Bureau federation which adjourned to March 3, 1920, when a permanent organization will be perfected. SENATE WILL VOTE ON CLOTURE RULE AT TODAY'S SESSION

Success of Movement to Put Down Debate is Uncertain.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Success for the movement to put down the peace treaty debate by a cloture seemed likely tonight to remain in doubt until the clerks call the roll on the question tomorrow in the senate.

Thirty Republicans signed the petition for cloture and party leaders declared that more would vote for it. There was no doubt, leaders asserted that the Republican side of the chamber would contribute more than its share of the two thirds majority necessary to invoke the cloture rule.

Among the Democrats however, there was more uncertainty, growing out of a question of policy involving the whole administrative program of parliamentary action on the treaty. Democratic Leader Hiram Bland was understood to incline away from the cloture proposal and also some Democrats said they would not follow him, a far greater number reserved their decision.

Vice-President Marshall is expected to be in the chair when the question automatically comes to a vote after the senate meets tomorrow and it was considered possible that he might remove some of the objections by so construing the cloture rule that it would not upset the administrative plans.

FOREIGN OFFICIALS DISCUSS ATTITUDE OF U. S. TOWARD PACT

Great Britain and France Will Disregard Any Reservations to Treaty.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—By The A. P.—Great Britain and France will disregard reservations to the peace treaty adopted by the United States senate, it was learned from a semi-official source.

The situation created by the delay in ratification by the senate was discussed at conferences in London by Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister, Premier Lloyd George, Winston Spencer Churchill and Arthur J. Balfour, it became known here today.

In the French foreign office the idea prevails that while ratification of the treaty has been delayed by the senate it will doubtless ultimately be voted, and that the allies need not be concerned over internal politics or directions to the government as to how to apply the treaty.

But should the American government request the allies to take notice of reservations and assent to them formally it is understood semi-officially neither London or Paris will acquiesce.

THREE ATTEMPTS TO STOP ENFORCEMENT OF DRY LAWS FAIL

Federal Judges in New York Uphold Constitutionality of the Law.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Three attempts to prevent enforcement of the war-time prohibition and Volstead enforcement acts failed in federal courts today. Federal Judges Learned Hand, John C. Knox and John G. Rose of Baltimore, each in different case, upheld the constitutionality of the law in denying petitions seeking injunctions to restrain enforcement with manufacture and withdrawal of liquor from bond.

Judge Hand denied a petition of Jacob Ruppert, brewer who sought an injunction permitting him to resume the manufacture of beer of 2.75 alcoholic contents.

Judge Knox denied a petition to restrain William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue from preventing the release from bond of barrels of distilled spirits. The petitioners were Dryfoos, Bloom and Company, wholesale liquor dealers and the decision was handed down in passing on demurrers of two local saloonkeepers who sought to prevent enforcement of the act.

The third decision by Judge Rose was on an application by Maryland Distilling Company for an injunction to prevent Joshua W. Miles, collector of internal revenue of Maryland from interfering in the release of large quantities of whiskey now in bond.

In commenting on the fact that technically the nation still is at war, Judge Rose expressed the opinion that beer and light wines should be permitted since changed conditions last spring. He added that it was not in the province of the judiciary to state when the war is at an end.

"I have every sympathy with persons whose business conducted in a law abiding manner is confiscated without compensation," said Judge Rose. "I agree with Judge Hand that it was perfectly reasonable for congress to say war is not ended till the treaty of peace is ratified."

Judge Hand in his decision said:

"I hold that the wartime prohibition remains valid, exercise of congressional power and the only question left is of title one under the national prohibition act insofar as it includes what on this record I must accept to be non-infringement of beer."

"The sole justification of war-time prohibition is to prohibit the sale of intoxicants if it may be impossible effectively to accomplish this end without including all kinds of beers."

"The same rule must apply to congress as to a state legislature. Finally the plaintiff in the second case, Ruppert, says that even though I should conclude as I do that the law is unconstitutional, he should request a temporary injunction pending an appeal. The supreme court is to hear arguments on the constitutionality of the war time prohibition act on Thursday next and it is reasonable to suppose that an early decision will be reached. The damage done by an injunction meanwhile cannot be measured by money."

"In all the books we are told that to declare a law constitutional we must be assured beyond question it is such. A temporary stay now is declaration for a time that it is unconstitutional. It is to dispense with the statutes until it is finally settled. Assuming that I may do so they seem to be no proper reason for exercising the power."

DECLARES STEEL INDUSTRY CRIPPLED

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 14.—At the close of the eighth week of the steel strike, John Fitzpatrick chairman of the national steel strike committee issued a statement in which he declared that "the steel industry is crippled because the laborers in the mills, the so-called foreigners are striking and standing like a wall in the way for American conditions of labor and American rights."

The national committee today received reports concerning the operations of the commissary system for feeding the strikers and their families and said it was working smoothly, while substantial financial support was being received from organized labor.

Representatives of the steel companies said they had no reason to alter the statements that the men are in operation and the men are returning to work.

RAILWAY WORKERS SCORE COMPLETE VICTORY IN HOUSE

Voluntary Conciliation of Labor Disputes Added to Esch Bill.

DIVIDE WORKERS INTO CLASSES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Railway workers scored a complete victory in the house today thru incorporation of their plan for voluntary conciliation of labor disputes in the Esch railroad bill. The house rejected a plan of compulsory arbitration including an anti-strike provision and also the plan written into the bill by the house interstate commerce commission which was described as "middle ground" between that adopted and compulsory arbitration. No direct vote on the anti-strike proposal was taken.

On both votes the proponents of the union's plan won by large majorities. First by a vote of 151 to 75, the house substituted the union's plan for compulsory arbitration and then 161 to 105, aside the committee plan for that endorsed by the workers. Final action came after practically the entire day had been devoted to debate of the three plans and after adoption of the workers' plan renewed effort to include anti-strike provision met defeat thru parliamentary tactics. The plan approved by the railroad employees was drafted by Representative Sweet, Republican, Iowa would legalize the machinery used by the railroads and their employees before and during federal control for settlement of disputes, with commissions on labor disputes being added to consider cases appealed from the joint board that first consider them.

In brief the plan divides the railroad workers into three classes and for each it establishes an adjustment board and an appeal commission. No penalty against strike or lockout is imposed, and membership on all boards of adjustment would be restricted to the workers and their employers and divided equally between them. Both the roads and the employees would be directed by the plan "to exert every reasonable effort and adopt every available means to avoid an interruption of traffic, and to this end the three boards of adjustment would be created, these being substantially the same as those existing under the railroad administration. The three adjustment boards would each deal with disputes of certain classes of the fourteen railroads. One board would include representatives of the four big brotherhoods—the engineers, the firemen, the conductors and the trainmen. Another would include the machinists, the boiler-makers, the blacksmiths, the car men, the sheet metal workers and the electrical workers, and the third would include the telegraph clerks and the switchmen, the railway clerks and the yard and shop laborers. Railway executives would name four, six and four respectively as members of these boards.

Corresponding to each board there would be set up a commission to consider appeals which could be sent to them by half the members of a board. These commissions would be of the same size as the boards, with the select method of choosing members obtaining, but with equality of membership between boards and commissions prohibited. Headquarters of all six tribunals would be in Washington.

A COMPLICATED PROBLEM

If the conference of mine operators and the miners plan for providing work in the mines every day in the year except Sunday and holidays and then can compel the miners to work on those days, the public will be benefited. From that standpoint there is much more in the present controversy than merely the scale of prices paid for the actual work of mining.

THE SOLUTION MUST COME

If the miners secure a 60 per cent wage increase, trainmen forty per cent, and other industrial workers who are now on strike or talking about it are given like increases, what is the use of even talking about reducing living costs? The money paid to industrial workers is a part of production costs and with these costs continuing to ascend no reasonable person can expect living expenses to get on the toboggan.

It's the same old worn out problem but certainly somebody must find the solution.

FINE FOR THE CORONER

If the theory of Dr. Sadler, head of the Chicago Therapeutic Institute, should become a law the office of coroner would become the best ever and in every county the list of candidates would be legion. Dr. Sadler presents some alarming statistics to prove the growth of insanity and various preventable diseases and he believes it would be beneficial if a coroner's inquest were held on every person who died under the age of fifty and all the facts which led to the death brought out. Coroner's fees would run to a mighty fine figure no matter how valuable the information obtained.

UNIFORM ROAD MARKINGS

All motorists who have taken trips that led them into Wisconsin have been struck with the great helpfulness and efficiency of the uniform system of road-marking used in that state. This effective system of signs and markings, with the excellent road-maps which form a necessary feature of it, makes it easy for the automobile tourist to find his way by day or night and furnishes a refreshing contrast to the incomplete marking of country highways that tends to discourage long automobile trips in other states.

The Assembly Bulletin says that it is earnestly to be hoped that the Illinois Highway Department will employ as good a system in marking the roads of this state, including the great network of state roads now in process of construction.

GET READY FOR THE ENUMERATOR

Troubles of the citizen multiply. This coming year in addition to filling out all the revenue department blanks, he must face the census enumerator and give all the data about his family history. This will not be a difficult matter just from a personal standpoint but the census is to include a great deal of information about business and industry. In the case of a farmer, for instance, millions of blanks have already been prepared for the country enumerators and the farmer is expected to answer a series of questions which will necessitate a very accurate record of farm transactions. Some farmers are fortunate enough to have these facts in book form, while others will find it a mental strain to meet the enumerators and give answers to all the questions propounded.

THESE PEOPLE SOUGHT HIGHER RATES

A petition to the public utilities commission has been circulated among the patrons of the Wabash Valley Telephone Company in Paris and Chrisman according to the Marshall Herald, stating that the telephone company could not continue its present service without an increase in rates, or make improvements in the property and service. The petition agrees that if the public utilities commission, after an investigation, finds the facts to be as represented, that a reasonable advance should be made in the rates in keeping with the increase in labor and cost of material.

In Paris the petition was presented to 415 persons and 408 signed, including the mayor and city council and all county officials and practically all the business men. In Chrisman the petition was presented to 84 persons and all 84 persons signed, including practically all of the business men of the city. A few years ago such a proceeding would have seemed astounding, but conditions change.

CHANGING BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Merchandising has taken on an entirely new aspect in recent months. The problem used to be how to sell goods, how to impress people with the merits of the wares offered. Now it is largely a matter of securing the goods. The average merchant spends most of his time writing or telephoning to manufacturers to make shipment. He relies upon personal friendships and long association to get his orders filled. A great many of the manufacturing firms no longer have their salesmen on the road. They keep these men on the pay roll and have them do other lines of work. But what's the use of soliciting business when they already have orders booked ahead for many months?

So in many lines the manufacturer instead of soliciting customers selects them, and something of this same principle extends into various retail lines. Often nowadays the consumer feels that he has been shown a favor if the merchant sells him some particular article or allows him to have a quantity of this or that article.

At some future time the old conditions will no doubt again obtain and the merchant who can figure out just when that time is coming and adjust his stocks and purchases to that day of reckoning is wise indeed.

SCHOOLS AS A COLLECTING AGENCY

In the current issue of the Educational Bulletin F. S. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, has the following sensible statement about the practice of collecting funds thru schools:

"For many years prior to the opening of the war public school officials throughout the country had sought to banish from the public schools the collecting of money. The position taken by most school officials was that however meritorious the cause it could not justify the harm done by collecting money from the children. There are many sound reasons which may be assigned in support of this point of view. Parents very generally object to allowing their children to carry money to school for any purpose."

"The temptations involved are great and are well understood by everyone who understands children. Again, any attempt to collect money from school children leads to uncomfortable and disquieting classifications and discriminations. Sometimes the children whose parents are least able to give the money are the ones most active in order that they may not be looked upon as ungenerous. It is also noticed that the children of those who are most capable of making contributions are often the ones whose offerings are very modest, and it is not infrequent that they are the ones who make no offering at all."

"The war brought unusual conditions and made unusual demands upon all our institutions. The public schools met these demands whether they ran counter to established school policies or not. However, the war being over, it is well for those in charge of our schools to return to the plan which experience and reason have shown to be the wise policy, and refuse to allow any collections to be made through the public schools, however meritorious the object may be."

Rippling Rhymes By Walt Mason

Homosick.

I am sitting in my palace, which is strictly up-to-date; and my Aunt Jemima Alice says I am a lucky skate; my existence should be sunny should be sweet as shredded honey, for I have a stack of money, and a figtree by the gate. I am sitting in my palace as the evening shades draw near, drinking from a jeweled chalice many quarts of kickless beer; luxuries are all around me, and no creditors conformed me, and no sorrows ought to bound me yet I spring the scalding tear. For my heart is sick with longing for the scenes my childhood knew, for the woods where birds were thronging, and the pastures wet with dew; all the day I'm longing, wishing for, the creek where I went fishing, and old Dobbin, tall a-swinging, and the cow that murmured "Moo!" Oh, my present lot is splendid, but I'm thinking, with a sigh, of the school that I attended in the happy days gone by; and I hear the buzz and clamor when the teacher used to hammer all the rudiments of grammar into boys, and made them cry. So I weary of my palace, tho' it is a sight to see, and I'd like to break a gallus climbing up an apple tree; for this state life never varies; and I'd like to swipe some cherries and some melons, and some berries, and to rob a bumble bee.

FORM COLLEGE SOCIETY AT QUINCY

Illinois College Organization to Further Institution's Interests in Adams County.

Illinois college is being more and more heard from as the years go by and its beneficent influence is being felt far and wide. Its usefulness is to be increased by additional endowment and great efforts will be made by the faculty, trustees and friends to increase its means and usefulness.

President Hammelkamp and Dean F. S. Hayden were in Quincy Friday before they attended a banquet at the Quincy hotel given by the alumni and friends of Illinois college. The meeting was called for the purpose of organizing an alumni association of the college in the city of Quincy. The occasion proved a very interesting and pleasant affair. About thirty five persons were present representing the alumni of the college, the alumnae of the Jacksonville Female Academy and alumnae of the Athenaeum. Geo. W. Govert, '95 acted as toastmaster delivering a brief address and introducing the two speakers. President Hammelkamp and Dean Hayden. The president spoke of the recent progress of the college and of the plans to increase the endowment and build a new library, while Dr. Hayden gave an account of the relation of the college to the war. The plans for the enlargement of the college were listened to with great interest and hearty approval.

The company sang many popular songs, Mrs. W. H. Govert accompanying on the piano. At the conclusion of the singing and toasts it was resolved to organize the Illinois College Society of Quincy. Geo. H. Govert being elected president and Bernice Wheeler '19 secretary. A committee consisting of G. H. Wilson '88, E. S. Pike, '91 and G. H. Govert '95 was appointed to assist the college trustees in their endowment campaign.

Among others who were present were: Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Hartley, Roy J. Adair '11, state's attorney of Adams county; Judge C. E. Epier, '76; W. H. Govert, '68; A. O. Lindsay, '03; R. H. Malcolmson, '09; P. E. Morrison, '11; E. S. Pike, '91; C. H. Wilson, '88; Bernice Wheeler, '19; W. Y. Baker, W. A. of Mt. Sterling; G. H. Earhart, Mrs. E. B. Hamilton. The alumnae of the Jacksonville Female Academy were represented by Mrs. T. L. Morris, Jane Fisk, and Mrs. Geo. H. Wilson, and the Athenaeum by Mrs. W. H. Govert. Nearly all of the married alumni were accompanied by their wives.

The Quincy press gave flattering accounts of the meeting.

ILLINOIS WON FROM MONMOUTH FRIDAY

Final Score Was 39 to 0—Game Featured by the Spectacular Work of Illinois.

Playing a spectacular game on both offense and defense, Illinois College defeated Monmouth College on Illinois Field Friday afternoon by a score of 39 to 0. In less than five minutes playing in the first period "Jimmy" Barnes grabbed a punt and with the aid of great interference, especially by Cully, ran 65 yards for the first score of the game.

We have never seen a better brand of football displayed by an Illinois team than that shown Friday. The entire team were on their toes and the men outplayed Monmouth's aggregation in every branch of the game. When the teams lined for the kickoff, Monmouth looked good and she was good. The visitors presented a heavier line than Illinois, but the Illinois forwards outcharged their men nearly all the time. The Monmouth backs were of the hard rushing tearing kind and while they succeeded in piercing the Illinois line several times for gains, they could not do it consistently and Illinois always took the ball on downs or forced Monmouth to kick.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of Monmouth's play was the work of Peterson. The big fullback. He was a bear at running with the ball and tearing thru the line. However, Illinois stopped him and stopped him hard and in the latter part of the game he was not able to make much headway. Monmouth's best play aside from her line plunging, was an end run from a fake kick forcing the Illinois line to give ground. This gained them considerable ground, but Illinois soon found a way to stop that and several times Peterson was downed in his tracks.

Praise should be given the entire Illinois team for the men played together as one man. On defense the line held well and the back field broke up nearly all of Monmouth's forward passes. Curran and Fanning played the wing positions in great style and got down the field fast and sure. Curran was especially brilliant in this department and the visitors did not try to gain around right end after the first few plays. Both teams punted a great deal and in the exchange of punts Locke had the better of the argument. He got more distance in his kicks and his ends got down fast and seldom failed to down the catcher in his tracks.

On the offense, Illinois showed a powerful machine. She did not have to uncover many plays to win the game and for the most part it was straight football that scored the points. If Millikin had any scouts present they will not have much information to carry back.

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the game from the spectators' standpoint was the work of Barnes of Illinois. In addition to his open field running, Barnes also was able to circle Monmouth's ends for good gains. But one of the features of Illinois gains was the work of Cully in the interference. Cully bowled over tacklers like ten pins and when Barnes made his first touchdown Cully was responsible for putting three tacklers out of business. Locke also ripped open the Monmouth line and Cully was always good for a gain when he carried the ball.

The latter part of the game Coach Harmon used a bunch of second string men. Some of these men also demonstrated their ability. Jones who took Barnes' place made a fine open field run for a touchdown and Ferreira, who also scored a touchdown.

First Period.
Illinois kicked to Monmouth. After trying to gain thru the line Monmouth was forced to kick. After making first down on an end run from a punt formation, Monmouth punted and Barnes grabbed the ball and with Cully giving great interference ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Locke kicked goal. Score: Illinois, 6; Monmouth, 0.

Illinois again kicked off. Monmouth made first down and then tried a forward pass which Locke intercepted and it was Illinois' ball. Cully immediately tore thru the line for 30 yards. After working the ball to Monmouth's five yard line, the visitors held and took the ball on downs. Just before the period ended, Monmouth made four first downs.

Second Period.
At the beginning of the period Illinois braced and held Monmouth for down and took the ball. Monmouth worked several forward passes in this period and Barnes negotiated a 40 yard run. However, neither team had the punch to put the ball over the Illinois line. The ball was over the Illinois line and the Illinois' had worked the ball close to Monmouth's goal when the half ended.

Third Period.
At the beginning of the third period Monmouth kicked to Illinois. After several tries at the line, Illinois kicked. The ball went over several times. Finally Illinois worked the ball within striking distance and Barnes passed to Cully for a touchdown. Locke missed the goal. Score: Illinois, 12; Monmouth, 0.

Illinois kicked and Monmouth received the ball. A pass netted first down. Monmouth could not gain and punted and Barnes grabbed the ball and again ran thru the entire Monmouth team for a touchdown. Locke kicked goal. Score: Illinois, 20; Monmouth, 0. The ball seasawed back and forth during the period being in Monmouth's possession when the whistle blew.

Fourth Period.
At the beginning of the period Monmouth tried a pass on the fourth down and it was Illinois' ball. Jones, who had replaced Barnes, made eight yards and then Ferreira who took Cully's place made first down. Illinois carried the ball to the three yard line and Thurmon went over for a touchdown. The goal was missed. Score: Illinois, 26; Monmouth, 0.

Illinois kicked to Monmouth. Illinois intercepted a forward pass and marched steadily thru the line, Ferreira going over for the touchdown. The goal was missed, making the score Illinois 33, Monmouth 0.

Monmouth again received and carried the kickoff back 20 yards. Monmouth tried a forward pass which Jones intercepted and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. The goal was missed, making the score Illinois 39, Monmouth 0, which stood at the final whistle.

The line-up:
Illinois: Fanning, 1e; Pick; Hfner, 1t; Scott; Guman, 1g; Firth; Tomlinson, 1e; Earl; Andrew, 1t; Dyer; Riess, 1g; Trimble; Curran, 1e; Reed; Cully, 1g; Jones; Locke, 1h; Milberg; Barnes, 1h; Anderson; Mutch, 1b; Peterson.

Substitutes—Fiedling for Tomlinson, Mackey for Andrew; Mellon for Riess; Rush for Curran; Bronson for Guman; Jones for Barnes; Henry for Hfner; Davis for Fanning; Scott for Mutch; Thurmon for Cully; Ferreira for Locke; Crouch, Farrell, Roberts and Hatfield also were given a chance to get in the game by Coach Harmon. Touchdowns—Barnes 2, Cully, Ferreira, Jones, Thurmon. Goals from touchdowns—Locke 2, Thurmon 1. Referee—Omer, University of Illinois. Umpire—Larson, Moline High. Headlinesman—Hufford, Hanover.

WILL DISCUSS EVILS THAT DIVORCES BRING

Prof. Anna G. Spencer to be Heard at Congregational Church

Illinois leads all the states of the Union in the gross bulk of divorces granted. About one out of every seven marriages winds up in the divorce court. This condition is one which eats into the very heart of our civilization; divorces orphans numbering into hundreds of thousands every year. The importance of the family to social and national life is impossible to overestimate. Think what family life may become to the children of the land. Weakened and dishonored as its authority often is today, the family yet supplies the sole redeeming influence for many a life that is only so uplifted from ignominious sordidness, mean selfishness and brutal degradation and bound in having relations to other lives.

This problem will be presented at the Community Forum at the Congregational church tomorrow evening. It is absolutely necessary that the force of public opinion upon this subject shall be crystallized. The Forum speaker is one of America's best known women. A lecturer who has been associate director of the New York School of Philanthropy for nine years, special lecturer in the University of Milwaukee and last year special lecturer in the University of Chicago. Anna Carlin Spencer is the author of "Woman's Slave in Social Culture," "The Scarlet Woman," "Social Ideals of a Free Church," etc. etc. Prof. Spencer knows her field and will well repay the effort of those who hear her. The usual question period will follow the address.

Itching, Scratching, Skin Diseases
That Burn Like Flames of Fire

Here is a Sensible Treatment
That Gets Prompt Results

For real, downright, harassing discomfort, very few disorders can approach so-called skin diseases, such as eczema, tetter, boils, eruptions, scaly irritations and similar skin troubles, notwith standing the lavish use of salves, lotions, washes, and other treatment applied externally to the irritated parts.

No one ever heard of a person being afflicted with any form of skin disease whose blood was in good condition. Therefore, it is but logical to conclude that the proper method of treatment for pimples, blotches, sores, boils, rough, red and scaly skin, is to purify the blood and remove the tiny germs of pollution that break through and manifest their presence on the surface of the skin.

People in all parts of the country have written us how they were completely rid of every trace of these disorders by the use of S. S. S., the "matchless, purely vegetable, blood purifier. S. S. S. goes direct to the center of the blood supply, and purifies and cleanses it of every vestige of foreign matter, giving a clear and ruddy complexion that indicates perfect health. MRS. GRACE WOOD JESS IN FOLK SONG PROGRAM

Delighted Large Audience at Woman's College Music Hall Friday Night—Rendition of Plantation Melodies and French Group Especially Pleading.

Mrs. Grace Wood Jess delighted a large audience in Music Hall at Illinois Woman's college Friday night in a program of folk songs. Mrs. Jess received her early training at the woman's college and was heard here frequently during her student days. Her voice is especially well suited to the singing of folk songs.

Especially is this true of her interpretation of the plantation numbers and the Kentucky mountain folk. There is a plaintive melody in these songs that few singers have been able to grasp. Mrs. Jess seems to have found the way and these numbers were given with rare feeling and intelligence. In these groups she used a costume that was worn by Mrs. Abraham Lincoln and this added charm to the numbers.

Another group that found much favor was the French songs. Mrs. Jess proved versatile in her singing of this group. Taken in its entirety there has been no more pleasing program given here in recent years.

The program was given under the auspices of James Caldwell Chapter D. A. R. Mrs. Barr Brown was in charge of arrangements and the success of the event was largely due to her efforts.

Miss Edith M. Robinson was at the piano. Miss Robinson is an accompanist of exceptional ability and her work was entirely in sympathy with the singer and added much to the pleasure of the evening.

STOCKS RECOVER FROM DECLINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Stocks made further substantial recoveries today from their severe declines of the mid-week, although there were occasional signs that the market had not fully adjusted itself.

The most hopeful features were the activity and strength of rails accompanied by favorable advices from Washington and the confidence of other stand issues as reported by commission houses.

Temporary minor reversals succeeded the strong opening these being ascribed to realizing for quick profits. Another setback followed the publication of the first call money rate of 14 per cent, the latter figure ruling until the last hour when successive offerings forced the rate down to eight per cent.

The condition of the time money market was the one serious drawback of the session. Virtually no funds were obtainable at the 8 per cent bid, even for renewals.

Leathers, tobaccos, shippings and food issues were comparatively inconspicuous and little changed. Sales amounted to 1,500 shares. The general bond list strengthened on buying of speculative rails, liberty issues also improving. Total sales (par value) totalled $14,650,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

ENLARGED RECEIPTS—LOWERS CORN

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Enlarged receipts together with prospect of a material further increase of the crop movement had a bearish effect today on the corn market. Prices closed unsettled 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 c net lower, with December $1.30 1/2 to $1.30 3/4 and May $1.24 1/2 to $1.25. Oats lost 1/4 c. The finish in provisions varied from 30c decline to 10c advance.

Altho at first the corn market showed considerable strength the bulls were soon at a disadvantage, and during the remainder of the session the tendency of values was in general down grade. The temporary upturn at the opening seemed due to advances in the New York stock market and to higher quotations on hogs.

But there was a lack of aggressive buying and long before a majority of traders swung around to the opinion that the more liberal arrivals today pointed to a still heavier expansion of supplies in the immediate future. Toward the last bearish sentiment became pronounced owing to reports that the railroads were furnishing cars with greater freedom.

Oats followed corn, advancing early only to weaken later. New England offers to re-sell had a depressing influence.

Provisions were governed chiefly by the action of grain.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

Readjustment of an over-extended speculative position has made for wholesome conditions in the securities market and the rescinding of the coal strike order has strengthened business prospects. No widespread or serious interruption of manufacturing or transportation has resulted from the walkout of the miners and the gradual resumption of operations in the bituminous fields has allayed an apprehension of a general industrial setback.

Yet different branches of enterprise are still greatly inconvenienced by labor troubles that limit outputs at a time when the fullest possible employment at mills and factories is essential and a rise in Dun's index number of commodity prices to level closely approximating the high record of the summer reflects the growing shortage of supplies of many necessities. Reports of cancellations of merchants commitments are less an indication of diminished purchasing power than of inability to have requirements satisfied and some interests with order books already congested have withdrawn salesmen from the road and are rejecting offers of profitable contracts from new customers.

DAIRY PRODUCTS HAVE GREAT VALUE AS FOOD

Comparative Figures Prove Interesting—Address Made by R. E. Caldwell Formerly of Purdue—State Film Shown.

One of the most interesting and informing addresses ever heard in Jacksonville was that presented Friday afternoon by R. E. Caldwell, formerly head of the dairying department of Purdue university. Mr. Caldwell spoke to a small group of interested persons at the Chamber of Commerce rooms on East State street after the film, "The Story of the Dairy Cow," had been shown under the direction of R. J. Stanard, assistant superintendent of the dairying division of the department of agriculture of the state of Illinois. The picture was filmed by the Victor George studio of Springfield and Herbert George was here to operate the machine.

Mr. Stanard made some explanation of the excellent picture as it was presented. The purpose of the presentation is to increase the interest in dairying and to show the highly important place the dairy products have among the food stuffs of the state and nation. Mr. Caldwell is recognized as one of the foremost authorities in Illinois on dairying questions. He sought to bring out the essential things in his address yesterday for successful dairying and emphasized the need for selecting the right type of cows for the improvement of herds and for proper feeding if the right results are to be obtained.

The Value of Dairy Products. "Our purpose in coming here," Mr. Caldwell said, "is not to dissuade you from feeding hogs and beef cattle, but to impress some facts about dairy products and to show the value this department of industry in relation to food production. You can take a 1,000 pound steer and the shrink before the meat portions are finally placed upon the block is nearly 600 pounds. Then there is a further shrink so that the actual food solids produced total 200 pounds. A good average dairy cow will produce 7,000 pounds of milk a year and this is the equivalent of 840 pounds of dry matter. This gives an idea of the relative production in feedstuffs, and then you must take into account that the beef animal has been killed and that the cow is ready for further production.

"There are four leading types of dairy animals—Jersey, Guernsey, Holstein and Ayrshire. The Jerseys, originated from the little Isle of Jersey in the English channel and less than 15 miles away from it is the island of Guernsey. The cattle there are larger than the Jerseys and the milk does not contain quite such a heavy percentage of butterfat. The Ayrshires of Scotland are offspring of animals originally used for work and the question of milk and meat production was made secondary.

"The Holstein is a development of Holland and is the oldest of the dairy breeds, its history extending back for 2,000 years. In Holland some of the land that has been dyked and has been used for farming and dairying purposes is valued at $2,000 per acre. The cows there are fed swamp grass and oil cake shipped from the U. S., yet it is a fact that because of the care taken the Hollanders are able to ship back to this country dairy products of a higher percentage of quality than produced here.

The Butter Fat Test. "There are no native breeds in the U. S. but the Holstein line has been so developed here in the past few decades that there has been no need of shipping breeding animals from Holland. The average cow used on the farms produces 140 pounds of butterfat per year, while to be profitable that production should be not less than 250 pounds. It might be well to remember in this connection that the prize producer of the world has a record of 1205 pounds in a year. The profitable dairy should have cows producing from 350 to 450 pounds of fat annually.

"Theobrods are not necessary for successful dairying and if grade cattle are used good results can be secured. Select a sire whose dam has been a milk producer of a higher standard than the cows in your herd. If this plan is followed there will always be improvement from year to year in the quality of your dairy herd. Most farmers keep their cows for the milk and then sell the surplus. From this practice has grown what is known as the dual purpose cow. As a matter of fact, there is no such animal. You cannot have both a dairy cow and a beef cow and get the best results along either line. One of the greatest and most frequent mistakes is in cross-breeding, as that usually results in the loss of all the good qualities.

"Select the breed that appeals to you most and then stick to it and develop it. One of the most important matters of dairying is in properly caring for and properly feeding the cows. If your cows are kept in stanchions let them be of the swinging type so that there is freedom of motion. The stalls with cement floors are best and these stalls bedded down a foot or two in depth with clean straw. Sunlight and ventilation are essential and plenty of pure water should always be available. You must remember that milk is 87 per cent water.

Duplicating Pasturage. "You know that the dairy cow on fine blue grass pasture in the early summer gives a splendid flow of milk as the result of the succulent food that is available. In winter time to get the best results you should duplicate conditions as nearly as possible. Feed silage with clover or alfalfa hay and then to get the greatest production a certain amount of grain.

"Experience has shown that 400 lbs. of corn and 200 lbs. of oats with 100 lbs. of oil meal makes an excellent ground combination. The amount of feed should be proportioned upon the size of the animal fed. Give attention to the breeding, the care and the feeding of cows and good results are certain."

At the close of the address there was an opportunity for questions and Mr. Caldwell explained a number of matters which were of value to those in the company.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED WITH FAMILY DINNER

Edmund Blackburn is Eighty Six Years Old But Still Vigorous.

A family dinner was given Friday in honor of the eighty-sixth birthday of Edmund Blackburn at his home in the Ebenezer neighborhood six miles northwest of the city. The event this year was planned by nieces of Mr. Blackburn.

Those in the company gathered at the Blackburn home at twelve o'clock and a sumptuous dinner was served an hour later. In the afternoon some time was spent in family reminiscences and then came a musical program of a kind that Mr. Blackburn especially enjoys. These birthday anniversaries have come to be notable because Mr. Blackburn is the oldest member of the family long resident in Morgan county, and he is now so far advanced in years, each succeeding anniversary finds him in fair physical health and unshaken mentality. To the whole Ebenezer neighborhood he is "Uncle Ed" and all the people for miles around his home know and respect him, and through the years have come to look upon him as a fine example of upright character.

While it was a large family group present yesterday, Mr. Blackburn also received numerous letters and cards of congratulation thru the mails. Among those present for the dinner were Rev. and Mrs. J. O. Kirkpatrick, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Obermeyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Blackburn, son and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Campbell, son and daughter of Tuscola; Mrs. Mary Dinwiddie and son, Edmund; Misses Luella and Elsie Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Walters and son, Frank M. Masters, Misses Jessie and Ethel Masters, Mrs. Ralph Ford and three sons, Miss Stella Blackburn, Miss Maria Walters, Mrs. James Reid and Mr. James Cuth of Wheatland, Wyo.

ROTARY CLUB SAW DAIRY SHOW

At the luncheon of the Rotary club Friday at the Pacific Hotel the members had the pleasure of seeing the educational film, "The Story of the Dairy Cow," which is being produced in various cities under the auspices of the state department. The picture was shown here by S. J. Stanard, assistant superintendent of the dairying division of the agricultural department of the state. As previously mentioned, music is to have a part in future Rotary club programs and yesterday W. E. Collins led in mass singing with William Esner at the piano. There wasn't a 100 per cent response but Mr. Collins is expecting improvement as the men become a little more accustomed to singing.

JOURNAL MAN VISITS WALNUT GROVE SCHOOL

Found Pupils Very Intelligent—School Building Is Good But Shade Trees Needed.

Go out almost to the Joy Prairie elevator and then turn north, west, north and two or three more ways and you will pull up at a very respectable schoolhouse wherein is a school taught by Glenn E. Bridgman who has under his care some attractive boys and girls. The writer had the pleasure of a visit to that school and it was quite enjoyable as is always the case with Morgan county schools.

The name of the school is Walnut Grove the walnut trees are conspicuous by their absence and it would be well if the directors, Messrs. Charles L. Wilkie, H. H. Hansmeier and Walter Shumaker, would get usy some afternoon and set out a few good shade trees for the ones that have been trees a good while and would soon do well to be relieved of duty.

The place is supplied with concrete walks and is generally in good shape and reconstructed according to law. The equipment is fairly good. They have some good maps, a fair library, but need some pictures of prominent men and scenes on the walls. The furniture is also good and new. The room has no vestibules but there is space on the rear wall for wardrobe books to hold the wraps of teacher and pupils.

The pupils were very polite and one kind hearted boy untied the visitor's horse and showed due courtesy. They answered questions very well, one or two answers being very creditable and unusual. They also asked quite a number of questions which is always gratifying to the writer for it shows they have taken an intelligent interest in what has been said to them.

The neighborhood is not thickly settled and the pupils are not numerous but they are an intelligent, pleasant group of young people whom it will be a pleasure to remember. They are: John Horner, Marvin Standley, Gerald Shumaker, Melvin Zachary, Rosie Zachary, Dorothy Horner, Erna Johnson, Ada Johnson, Ethel Cully, Eleanor Cully, Robert Hansmeier, John Shumaker, Florence Farmer, Robert Cully, Bertha Farmer, Mable Farmer, Lenora Alexander, Eleanor Johnson.

JACKSONVILLE AND WAVERLY PLAY TODAY

Football Teams Will Hook Up in Morgan County Classic—Both Teams Confident of Winning.

Coach Hufford will take his Jacksonville high football warriors to Waverly today where they will hook up with the fast, high school squad of that city.

The game is the football classic of this section this year. Waverly has won all her games except one and that was a tie. They have the greatest team in the history of the school and its supporters are confident of victory.

On the other hand Jacksonville also has one of the best teams in her history and her supporters are equally confident of winning. Jacksonville started off poorly, losing her first two games. However, after that the team hit its stride and today is a formidable aggregation in all departments of the game both on offense and defense.

The battle will be for blood and it no doubt will be witnessed by the greatest crowd that ever attended a football game in Waverly. An effort was made to run a special train to the game but it could not be arranged. However, the roads are in excellent condition and indications are that several hundred will drive over to see the game.

Coach Hufford will take twenty-two men to Waverly and among the second string men are some who can creditably fill the regular's places should they get knocked out. The probable lineup at the start of the game is given:

Randsell, le; R. Arter, lt; Bray, lg; Smith, c; Reid, rg; Molohon, rt; Lucas, re; Hunt, qb; Cockin, lb; Green, rh; A. Arter, fb. The game will start promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

A MODEL COMMUNITY

A gentleman of this city and well acquainted in Washington, Iowa, tells some remarkable facts regarding a place of only some 4500 inhabitants. They have recently erected a Methodist church costing $200,000; the United Presbyterians have raised funds for a $100,000 addition to their church; they have a hotel that cost $125,000; a school house costing $200,000 and a fine hospital costing a large sum. The people built the hospital cheerfully as well as rooted the bills for the other structures and the community has no especially wealthy people in it but those who do live there know the satisfaction of helping along good works.

CLOSING OUT SALE — Friday, Nov. 21—livestock and farm implements at my farm 2 miles southwest of town. M. S. ZACHARY.

In March we placed our order for fall and winter suits and overcoats.

Wholesale prices advanced ten dollars and more per garment. But this advance did not apply to our order. The increase became effective at once on all orders placed then and thereafter.

Our stocks of suits and overcoats were brought at the old prices. Manufacturers now charge more for the same garments and they are worth more. When our present stocks are exhausted, we shall have to pay more. They cannot be replaced at the old prices.

We believe that clothing should be sold on a basis of cost regardless of subsequent developments. The price we charge is determined by the price we pay, no matter how much higher the prevailing market value may be.

We won't charge more unless we have to pay more, and we won't pay more if we can help it. But no matter what we pay or when, our selling price will represent nothing more than a legitimate profit upon the actual cost.

MYERS BROTHERS.
